

What is Real Colors?

Real Colors® is a dynamic workshop experience providing participants with the skills to:

- understand human behavior
- uncover motivators specific to each temperament
- improve communication with others

The basis of this workshop is the Real Colors® Personality Instrument: a user-friendly, intuitive tool that identifies four personality types common to all people—Gold, Green, Blue, and Orange.

It all begins with the Real Colors workshop, in which participants:

- gain an understanding of the four colors (each corresponding to a personality type)
- discover where they fall as an individual on the Real Colors spectrum
- learn to recognize characteristics of each of the four colors
- discuss with fellow workshop participants what it's like to be each color

From the very beginning, participants begin to see the world from a new perspective...and have fun doing it!

The Fundamentals workshop is the foundation for advanced workshops designed to address common organizational topics such as stress, workplace issues, teams, and leadership.

Without a doubt, Real Colors works.

Since 1993, nearly one million people in businesses, professional organizations, universities, and government agencies throughout North America have used Real Colors and its principles to improve and enhance their personal and professional relationships. The techniques learned through Real Colors can help bring about lasting, positive change, resulting in higher levels of success for all.

Presenters

Dan Clark is a certified Real Colors facilitator since 2008. He has trained over 3500 local government officials, business leaders, nonprofit organization, students and professors from across the U.S. on how to learn and recognize the four colors in themselves and other. You will enjoy his energy, humor and insights as you learn to listen in the language of the speaker and speak in the language of the listener.

Blake Christensen provides training, facilitation, and technical assistance to local governments and organizations across the State of Montana. His current projects include an emphasis on leadership development, organizational strategic planning, good governance, conflict management, and public board training.

